

To Whom It May Concern:

We are writing to confirm that all hand-knit Yellow Label Kids products conform fully with the European Safety Standard for Toys, EN71, and are tested at a certified independent laboratory in the UK. Among many other things, they have been tested for acoustics, colours, production quality and heavy metals content and all requirements passed.

These products are made in Bangladesh by hand to the highest quality standards and, as members of the Fair Trade Federation, Yellow Label Kids has been through a selective, independent screening process to make sure that all products are made in compliance with Fair Trade practices. Among other things, this guarantees that our products are never made with child labor, and that all artisans are paid a better than average wage within their local context.

As a company, we are dedicated to providing products that promote the well-being both of the people who make them, as well as of the children and parents who enjoy using them.
